

President of
New America Foundation,
(USA)

Mr. Steve Coll

STEVE COLL is president of New America Foundation, and staff writer for The New Yorker magazine. Previously, he spent 20 years as a foreign correspondent and senior editor at The Washington Post, serving as the paper's managing editor from 1998 to 2004. Mr. Coll graduated Phi Beta Kappa, Cum Laude, from Occidental College in 1980 with a degree in English and History. He is the author of seven books.

Mr. Coll's professional awards include two Pulitzer prizes. He won the first of these for explanatory journalism, in 1990, for his series, with David A. Wise, about the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). The second was awarded in 2005, for his book, Ghost Wars, which also won the Council on Foreign Relations' Arthur Ross award. His overseas awards include the 1992 Livingston Award for outstanding foreign reporting and the 2000 Robert F. Kennedy Memorial writing.
